S. S. RALLY

At Jeffersonian Christian Church Next Sunday—Mr. Joplin and Miss Reager to Speak.

A district Sunday-school rally, under the auspices of the Jefferson County Sunday-School Association, will be held at the Jeffersonian Christian church next Sunday, October 15, beginning at 2:30 p. m. All of the local Sunday-schools and those of this district are expected to be represented.

Rev. A. A. Joplin, general secretary of the Kentucky S. S. Association, will be present and deliver an address. Mr. Joplin is a leader in this work and will have something interesting to say. Miss Madeline Reager, of Louisville, will also address the meeting. This means that a large crowd will be present, as both speakers are thoroughly conversant with Sunday-school work and are entertaining speakers.

Rev. T. S. Tusley, pastor of the Christian church, will provide and deliver the welcome address, and Rev. Virgil Elgin, pastor of the Methodist church, will offer prayer. Special singing by all the Sunday-schools of the town will be a feature. Everybody is invited to be present.

HELPFUL

Talks Made at Farmers' Institute Held at Middletown—What Can Be Done By Others.

Middletown, Oct. 9.—The Farmers' Institute which met here Friday and Saturday was quite a success and well attended. It was helpful to those on the farm to be there and hear those men tell how they have made the farm a success. Mr. L. B. Clure, of Franklin, Ind., "The Corn King," raised all his prize corn on thirteen acres. He attends agricultural college short courses and wears evening clothes, but at the same time he can put on his cotton overalls and get down to the plow and all kinds of farm work. Not every boy can be a rich man but every boy can be industrious. A boy with gentlemanly manners, who is trustworthy and honest and does his very best every day in the shop or on the farm, will gain the attention and confidence of men and will be given paying and responsible positions. Character, like a house, must have the right kind of a foundation. The foundation stones of a good character are reverence for God, respect and obedience to parents; kind to old people.

COMMENDS

The Jeffersonian Advocating Best Interests of County Does Buechel Subscriber.

We like to get letters like the following from people that appreciate the value of a county paper:

Buechel, Ky., Oct. 9, 1911.—Editor Jeffersonian: Find enclosed $1.00 for renewal of my subscription to The Jeffersonian which has become one of our indispensables. You are giving us an A1 county paper, and your persistent advocacy of good roads, better rural schools and rural conditions generally, are certainly commendable. Long live The Jeffersonian! Yours truly

T. L. CONNELLA.

Mr. Charles Fisher and daughter, Miss Virginia, and Mr. Harry Hall, of Oak Grove neighborhood, spent Sunday with Mr. W. B. Fishback and family.

LETTER

From Between The Pikes and On the Pike in Jefferson County.

News is somewhat scarce in this section at present; many changes have taken place since we last took up our pen to jot down items for the paper. The saddest occurrence was the death of Miss Mamie Olges, which was a great shock to her family and hosts of friends. She had been a great sufferer for several years, but was thought to be improving, when she died very suddenly while sitting in her chair. She was a most lovely young lady; industrious to a fault. "What her hands found to do she did it with all her might," and there was not much Mamie could not do. She was a skilled house keeper, florist and could turn out some of the most delicate needlework. When unable to be on her feet much, she was busy with her needle, and some of the most beautiful embroidery we ever saw was her very last work. The world is poorer without Mamie, but heaven is richer.

Protracted meeting began at Oak Grove church last week. There have been good congregations and two additions to date.

Ben Doon Wise had an exciting experience recently, the second within a few years.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Farmer have moved to the city and taken rooms on Winter avenue. It is so very lonely without them near us, but we hope soon to take rooms on some avenue, when we can see them and the other "kiddies" oftener.

Dr. B. H. Blair, of Lebanon, Ohio, recently visited his sister, Mrs. L. V. Hansbrough, who has been ill for months. Blair's great niece, Miss Lee Baker, Dr. Blair's grand niece, has gone to Lebanon, O., with him to attend the Lebanon Normal school this session. She hopes to qualify to teach. Lebanon Normal is an excellent school. Some of our very best scholars attended that school, some of whom are Dr. Wm. Rush, Professor Wm. Maple, Dr. Jas. R. Bates and several others from this neighborhood, but who have located elsewhere.

All of whom speak in the highest terms of the Lebanon Normal school. We sincerely hope Miss Baker will do equally as well.

New Pastor Arrives.

Rev. Virgil Elgin and family arrived Monday from Hartford and are now occupying the Methodist parsonage. Mr. Elgin preached at Cooper's Memorial last Sunday and will preach here next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. He is said to be a fine preacher; come out and hear him.

Fine Book Showing.

As advertised by J. Bacon & Sons in this issue of The Jeffersonian this well known firm has the largest and best selection of boys and girls books this side of New York. There is nothing that will help a boy or girl as much as reading of good books, and there are all kinds offered at reasonable prices by J. Bacon & Sons. Read over the large list of titles and authors in the ad. It is not too early to buy for Christmas.

Services at Beulah.

There will be preaching at Beulah at A. M. on next Sunday. Rev. L. B. McCord will preach at both services. Communion will be held at the morning service.

GEO. W. CHEREK, Pastor.

Interesting Letter Upon Topics of the Day From a Good Section of the County—News of Interest.

St. Matthews, Oct. 9.—Now, that all visitors have gone home (entertainments in their honor kept everybody moving to complete the round of social duties), we have subsided under our own vine and fig tree to rest.

Save Your Money.

Of course, that energetic body, the Ladies' Aid, never ceases from labor. Plans are being laid even now for a wonderful bazaar, which will comprise every thing needed, beautiful and luxurious for the feminine. Don't buy anything between now and Christmas; save all your money to spend first week in December.

Want the Posthouse?

"The question of where shall the county almshouse be located is being agitated in this community, along with the election and wheat sowing. These are the thoughts uppermost in the masculine mind at present."

Have an Automobile.

Folks, the Brownsboro road has an automobile—making a daily trip to Louisville taking passengers in great style. So, you Middletown and Jeffersontown people can't turn your nose up at us any longer thinking we are back numbers.

The Glenview Baptist meeting has closed a very interesting and profitable service, with twelve additions to the church.

Moving Forward.

Dr. Arthur Laird, son of the Presbyterian minister at Springdale, has opened a dental parlor at the manse. His excellent work and moderate charges have brought him much custom lately. He is so pleasant and efficient that I take this means of asking all who are in convenient distance to patronize him. You see, we are moving forward.

A little "nightingale" so charmed the young boys here by her solos at church that the days seem endless.

Miss Elsie Koehler Sunday.
Dr. Vernon Manning was the weekend guest of Dr. Noah Berry.

Misses Eunice Johnson and Sallie Gentry spent Sunday afternoon in Louisville with Miss Harvey Gentry.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Reid had as their guest Sunday and Monday Hon. J. J. Russell, Congressman of Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Pierson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Luke Wheeler and Mrs. C. Wheeler at dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Price Bates and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Chas. E. Bates, and sons, Griffith and Eugene, from Auburn, Ky., spent a very pleasant day with Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Fryer Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Fryer had as their guests Sunday afternoon Mrs. John Williams and son, Norbin, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall, from Washington.

Dr. Edgar Williams, an evangelist who has traveled quite extensively over the country, is conducting a revival for Rev. R. T. Mathews at the Portland Avenue Presbyterian church.

A great deal of interest is being manifested. Several attended the meeting from Fern Creek Friday evening, among whom were Mrs. R. T. Mathews and children, Misses Florence Pierson, Abby Rinsinger and Stella McKeag. Prof. Ernest Evers, the missionary, sang a beautiful solo, "My Mother's Prayer," Friday night.

Pat on Baptism.

Pat, who was noted for a quick tongue, was digging potatoes when the parish priest came by. By way of a pleasant salutation the priest said:

"Good mornin' to ye, Pat, and what kind of p'tatoes are ye diggin'?"

"Raw ones, your reverence."

"Ouch, ye're so smart. I'll just give ye a question on the catechism; what is baptism?"

"It used to be four shillin's afore ye came, but now it's twenty shillin's."

—The Circle.

The Best Proof.

Little Ted, seven years old, was sent to the bathroom for a "good scrub" before dinner, but returned so quickly that his mother declared he couldn't possibly have washed himself. He replied: "Truly, I did, mother, and if you don't believe it you can just go to the bathroom and look at the towel." —The Delinquent

THE LAND OF KENTUCKY.

"Know'st thou that land where the corn tassels bloom Where the mystical cocktail exhales its portage

And the highlands sprinkle with flavor divine.

And the schoolers sail fast 'neath the shade of the vine.

Know'st thou that land, that beautiful land?

"Know'st thou that land where the palep was born.

Where the Mian yields its breast to the Spirit of corn.

Where the ice strikes the glass with a musical sound.

And the straw shrieks aloud when the bottom is found.

Know'st thou that land, that beautiful
land?

"Hear'st thou the call of the bluegrass to be.

Come over the river, come southward to me.
Where a welcome awaits from Kentucky's old boys."

Oh, come to that Southland and taste of her joys.

Oh, come to that land, that beautiful
land.

"Know'st thou that land? Then art an unlucky.

"To grieve, to leave his hearty Kentucky That calls from the river, that flows in the sun."

Come southward to meet us, cross over and see.

Oh, come to that land, that beautiful land."

A Modern Improvement.

Three doctors were operating on a man for appendicitis. After the operation was completed one of the doctors missed a small thing. The patient was re-opened, the sponge found within, and the man sewed up again. Immediately the second doctor missed a needle. Again the patient was opened and closed. The third doctor missed a pair of scissors. "Gentlemen," said the victim as they were about to open him up again, "for heaven's sake, if you're going to keep this up put bot-tons on me."—Success Magazine.

Averts Awful Tragedy.

Timely advice given Mrs. C. Willoughby, of Marengo, Wis. (R. No. 1) prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. Doctors had said her frightful cough was a "consumption" cough and could do little to help her. After many remedies failed, her aunt urged her to take Dr.
King's New Discovery. "I have been using it for some time," she said, "and the awful cough has almost gone. It also saved my little boy when taken with a severe bronchial trouble." This matchless medicine has no equal for throat and lung troubles. Price 30c and 50c. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Remember to Try It.

Clover will give two cuttings a year. The amount you get from the second cutting will depend very largely on how early you cut the first.
Here is a fixed law in clover. If the seed has formed in the head before you cut the clover, then the plant has fulfilled its mission and the root proceeds to die. If you cut before the seed forms, the plant redoubles its effort to produce seed and throws up vigorous second growth. If you want proof of the existence of this law, note well how poor a crop you get the next year after a crop of seed has been grown. Cut the first crop just as it begins to blossom; cure it under hay caps and you will have splendid hay. Then the second crop will come vigorously and if you handle it the same way you will usually have a good third growth to go through the winter with and a good growth the next year. Try this method of handling red clover.—Hoard's Dairyman.

Gives Aid To Strikers.

Sometimes liver, kidneys and bowels seem to go on a strike and refuse to work right. Then you need those pleasant little strike-breakers, Dr.
King's New Life Pills—to give them natural aid and gently compel action.
Excellent health soon follows. Try them. 25c at all druggists.

FARMING

Is Very Successful in the New England States.

Mr. John B. McFerran Says What States Are Doing Kentucky

Can Do.

Few think of New England as a corn growing country; yet, the average in corn and potatoes is so far above that of the West as hopelessly to out-class the latter. New Hampshire ranks as the first state in the Union in corn, and Connecticut a good second—New Hampshire with 42 1-10 bushels per acre and Connecticut with 40 3-10 bushels. Massachusetts, with 39 1-10 bushels is ahead of Illinois with 38 2-10 bushels. In Kansas the yield is only 27 8-10 bushels.

The first prize for flint corn at the great National corn show at Omaha went to Massachusetts. A Brockton shoe cutter raised 132 bushels of shelled corn to the acre, only one bushel less than the crop which took the grand prize at the same exhibition.

The area of Iowa's farm lands is eleven times that of Massachusetts and yet the total value of her agricultural product is only about nine times as much. Illinois has ten times the area of only eight times the value.
The tiled lands of Kansas are thirty-three times as great as those of Massachusetts and her crop values are only four and one-half times greater. To use of Illinois, are nine times the area and her agriculture with all her intensive fruit raising, brings her in only three times as much money. Massachusetts would make hardly more than a respectable size county for Texas, so far as area goes, and Texas has forty times more land in cultivation, yet the crops of Texas are worth only five times as much. In 1905 Massachusetts had agricultural products valued at $1,000,000, an increase of 25 per cent. in ten years. A half acre strawberry patch yields 5,000 quarts, worth $25. Eleven hundred dollars have come from one acre and a half of cantaloupes. There are thousands of acres in asparagus, with profit of $200 to $500 per acre. Five acres in peaches have yielded $2,500 in one season.

New England cities are growing as never before. A great New England fruit show was held in Boston last year. This year a great corn show at Worcester demonstrated what New England can do in that line. New educational methods are making industrial efficiency, vocational training is coming to the front: Agricultural High Schools are training both boys and girls for farm life. Their studies are shaped to these ends, and manual training largely takes the form of practical work in model farms and gardens.
The capable boy, alert, energetic and enterprising wants to make the best of himself, he aims to get on his worth in the agricultural high school his attention is focused upon the circumstances of his daily life; they are made interesting, the why and wherefore of things are explained and made fascinating. Their practical possibilities are shown. He learns many new wrinkles that his good father had no idea of. He starts in at home along the lines of the new knowledge while he is still at school.

The Massachusetts State College of Agriculture is taking a new lead in developing the possibilities of the soil. By lectures and practical demonstration in various parts of the state the college carries itself to the people, and by offering special opportunities it brings the people to the college. "Farmers' week" held at Amherst in the middle of March became an invaluable institution.
On the last occasion more than five hundred men and women from all parts of the state came together in the old town.

The possibilities of more systematic rural development were first indicated by an experience in a little mountain community in the Berkshire hills. At Huntington the trolley line came to an end in a valley where farmers had always raised apples in the old happy-go-lucky fashion. It had always cost too much to get the apples to market. The trolley line made a start by sending an expert to give the farmers some simple instructions in harvesting and improving the trees. The first year five hundred barrels of apples were taken out. The next year the number had increased to fifteen hundred.
The third year there were three thousand barrels shipped—a gain of six hundred per cent in two years.

Two or three years ago the possesor of an orchard of several hundred neglected trees proposed to cut them down, but was advised to consult a "tree doctor." He was informed that it would pay to have them treated. A figure was given. The cost seemed too great, but finally a bargain was struck, whereby the expert was to put the trees in good condition and take the crop for the next three years in payment. The first year's crop not only sold for enough to cover the cost originally asked, but netted a very considerable sum in addition. The thought of the other two crops yet to come made the man made the owner wish he had paid cash. (Knowledge is power.)

In 1899 Al Blaisdell bought a deserted farm in Winooski for $1,000 and devoted it chiefly to apples. In 1909 it was paying 5 per cent on $90, 000, and he estimates that in five years his profit will amount to 10 per cent on $300,000. From all over the country people write that they are considering settlement in New England, attracted not only by industrial prospects but by social benefits and facilities, good schools, good libraries, good roads. Even they come from the wonder orchard "irrigated" regions of Oregon and Washington practical growers are inquiring for available land."

The above are extracts from a recent article in the "Outlook." Do they offer no suggestive lessons to the people of Kentucky county and other counties in Kentucky? Is it not possible to do on our Kentucky lands what they can on the sterile soil and severe climate of New England? Most assuredly so, and if we will rehabilitate our schools as a beginning, we can do it. But we can't do it by folding our hands and waiting for a miracle.

"DON"

Comedy Success To Beat the Masonic Theater Oct. 12, 13, and 14.

Among the most notable bookings of the Shubert Masonic theater season is that of Mr. William Courtenay in the New Theater comedy success "Don," which will be seen on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 12th, 13th and 14th. Mr. Courtenay's previous appearance in Louisville in "The Wolf" and "Arsene Lupin" have given him a vogue which few of the younger players enjoy. In the comedy by Rudolf Besier which had more performances than any play in the repertoire of the New Theater Company in New York he will be seen to unusual advantage, the role being one of his particular part and the supporting company one of almost all star prominence.

Mr. Courtenay's first starring tour is under the direction of Mr. Winthrop Ames, for two seasons director of the famous New Theater. "Don" has been staged by Mr. George Foster Platt, who staged the original production in New York. The settings and effects are exact copies of those seen at the New Theater.
"Don" is itself a play of alluring charm and optimism. Its story abounds in dramatic surprises and its lines fairly sparkle with humor.
"Don" is an eccentric young artist whose altruistic ideas lead him to sacrifice the wife of another man and to bring her into his own home for protection. The consternation occasioned by the disclosure of this fact is further increased when the husband arrives with the intention of ending "Don's" life. How the young Don Quisoto brings order out of disorder and final happiness to everybody, is a comedy of such close and distinct plot that it has attracted attention both in New York and London. The supporting company is unusual and includes: Mr. Harriet Ols Dellenbaugh, Mr. Alfred Fisher, Miss Zettie Tibbory, Mr. John Chiles, Miss Blanche Yurka, Mr. Courtenay, Miss Selma Hall, Miss Jessie Glendening and Mr. Reginald Barlow. Three of these were members of the New Theater company. Mr. Courtenay's engagement will include matinee Saturday. There will be no advance in prices.

FARMERS

Held Interesting Meeting at Middletown and Elected Delegates To State Institute.

The Jefferson County Farmers' Institute, met Friday and Saturday at Middletown with good attendance each day. W. H. Strange acted as director, and the welcoming address was delivered by the Rev. W. H. Starks, Waller Station, was elected president, and James W. Urton, of Middletown, vice president, while Alex Johnson, of Louisville, was chosen secretary.
C. L. Wetherbee, S. W. Duncan, H.
W. Brown, Charles K. and C. E.

tes.
The meeting was one of the best attended ever held in this county, and much interest was manifested.

Agriculture for Women.

One of the new courses of study offered by the Missouri College of Agriculture is a four years course for women leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Agriculture. This course is intended to give to women, not only a knowledge of Home Economics but a thorough training in those farm practices in which women are particularly interested. The course includes Farm Crops and Soils, Dairying, Botany, Gardening, Care of Flowering Plants and Fruit Culture, besides the usual studies that have heretofore been included in the regular Home Economics course.

It is expected that this will prove popular with a large class of young women who intend to spend their lives on a farm in connection with agricultural schools. It is a well balanced course, affording a wide range of studies from which students may elect work outside of the Agricultural and Home Economics departments.

A Family Affair.

"Cordelia!" ordered the teacher,
"throw that gum in the waste basket!"

The pupil's face grew scarlet, but she did not stir.

"If you do not put that gum in the waste basket immediately I will send you out of the room," said the teacher, gravely.

The girl walked reluctantly to the desk. "I can't, teacher," she said, "it's my gum and I shan't lick me. If I come home without it,"—Success
